DAMAGING TESTIMONY.

The trial of Thornton J. Hains in Flushing, N. J., on the charge of aiding his brother, Capt. P. O. Hains, jr., in the killing of William E. Annis, was adjourned last night until Monday, after a day in which the state developed very strong testimony. Herbert Funke and Arthur Andrews, both eye witnesses of the shooting, swore that there was an interval between the first shot fired by Captain Hains at Annis and the other that came in fairly rapid succession. Both of these members declared positively that Thornton Hains pointed his revolver at those on the float after the first shot and before the succeeding shots were fired. An exhaustive cross-examination on this point, material to the prosecution's case, failed to shake the testimony. Andrews stated that following the first shot he saw the defendant point his revolver at witness's father.

"There was a first shot, then an interval when there were some more shots in quick succession, then a pause and a last shot which went through the sail. I ran when I saw Thornton Hains point his revolver at my father and stood under the dock," said Andrews. The witness, Funke, gave a graphic description of the shooting of Annis. Standing by with his arms folded, the army captain waited until Annis's boat swept up beside the float, said the witness, then, lifting the obscuring sail, Captain Hains fired several shots at the publisher. Herbert F. L. Funke testified that he saw Captain Hains fire the first shot after Thornton Hains had asked witness where Annis could be found; that he saw blood on Annis's clothing where the bullet had struck him and that he started toward Captain Hains to disarm him, but found himself confronted by Thornton Hains' revolver. He said in reply to questions that Thornton Hains said nothing to him, only leveled the pistol at him, and he did not hear Thornton Hains address anyone else at that time.

SCENE IN COURT.

Former U. S. Senator George L. Wellington, who is named as co-respondent in the divorce proceedings instituted by Dr. Pierce B. Wilson, jr., against his wife, Mrs. Talitha V. Wilson, and who was called to the witness stand to testify for the defense, created a scene in Circuit Court No. 2, in Baltimore, yesterday afternoon when put through a severe cross-examination by Attorney Thomas O. Weeks, counsel for the plaintiff. Mr. Wellington became highly excited and shouted his answers to the questions asked by the attorney.

He told under the guidance of Mr. Colton of his associations and relations with the Rohrbachs and Wilsons. He stated that his relations with the family were of a friendly nature, and denied having had any improper relations with Mrs. Wilson.

During the examination Mr. Wellington branded the statement of Miss Lily Davis, to the effect that she had seen him with his arm around Mrs. Wilson's waist, as an infamous lie. "And," continued the witness, "if you (meaning Mr. Weeks) are the teller of such testimony you are an infamous liar." The latter part of this statement was shouted by the witness in a high-pitched tone, as he leaned forward in his chair. Senator Wellington added he would be glad to repeat the statement to the lawyer outside the courtroom. Upon being reprimanded by Judge Gortler he apologized to the court for the remark. The judge was on several occasions compelled to interrupt the proceedings because of the excited manner in which the witness gave his testimony.

The name of Rev. Robert S. Conland, rector of Ascension Protestant Episcopal Church, who has been sued for $20,000 damages by Dr. Wilson, was brought out during the cross-examination of Dr. Wilson, but no light was thrown upon the cause for the suit.

VIRGINIA'S ANCIENT CAPITOL.

A movement to bring about the restoration of the ancient Capitol building in Williamsburg has been set afoot by the Beta Kappa Society of William and Mary College. The old Capitol building, which was rich with years of historic association, formerly stood at the eastern end of Duke of Gloucester street, Williamsburg. It was constructed about the year 1702, and continued in use as the Capitol of the colony until 1779. At the latter date the seat of government was removed from Williamsburg to Richmond. In all the eventful history of Virginia, especially during the years immediately preceding the revolution, this building was the scene of councils and debates which had far-reaching effects upon the destiny of the state and nation. After the revolution it was used as a courthouse for the state and federal courts until 1832, when it was destroyed by fire. Fortunately, the most exact measurements and designs of the old building have been preserved, and the foundations are still intact.

For that Dull Feeling After Eating I have used Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets for some time, and can testify that they have done me more good than any tablets I have ever used. My trouble was a heavy dull feeling after eating—David Freeman, Kemp, Nova Scotia. These tablets strengthen the stomach and improve the digestion. They also regulate the liver and bowels. They are far superior to pills but cost no more. For sale by W. F. Creighton and Richard Gibson.

Remarkable Story

The story of Mrs. Matilda Warwick, of Kokomo, Ind., as told below, proves the curative properties of that well-known female remedy, Wine of Cardui. Mrs. Warwick says:

TAKE CARDUI
It Will Help You

"I suffered from pains in my head, shoulders, limbs, side, stomach low down, dizziness, chills, nervousness, fainting spells and other female troubles. I was almost dead. Three doctors did not help me. At last, I took Cardui, and with the first bottle obtained relief. Now I am cured. But for Cardui, I would have been dead." Try Cardui.
